ODYSSEY

Brooks County High School Quitman, Georgia

In Memoriam:

Mary Ann McLain

Dedication

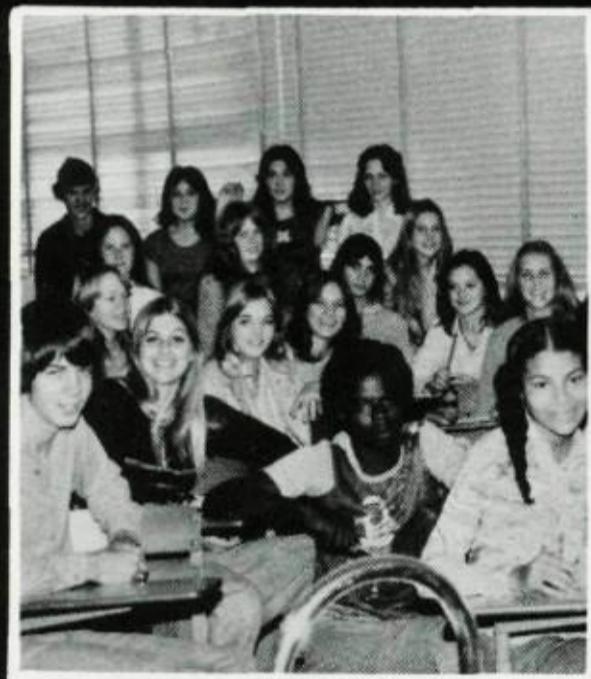

The 1977 Yearbook Staff proudly dedicates this volume of the ODYSSEY to Patricia Lynn Cashwell. Through Patricia's determination and hard work the ODYSSEY has become a meaningful part of BCHS. Her leadership has given the yearbook staff the respect it deserves. Because of her patience and guidance the staff has been able to put together quality yearbooks.

Patricia is a Senior at BCHS. She was selected as a Merit Scholar her junior year. Patricia is an active member of several clubs, including the Beta Club, Outdoors Club, and Explorers Club. She played B-team basketball during her 10th grade at BCHS and was also on the track team. During her junior year she was on the Varsity basketball team. Patricia was the editor of the 1976 ODYSSEY and she is editing the yearbook again this year.

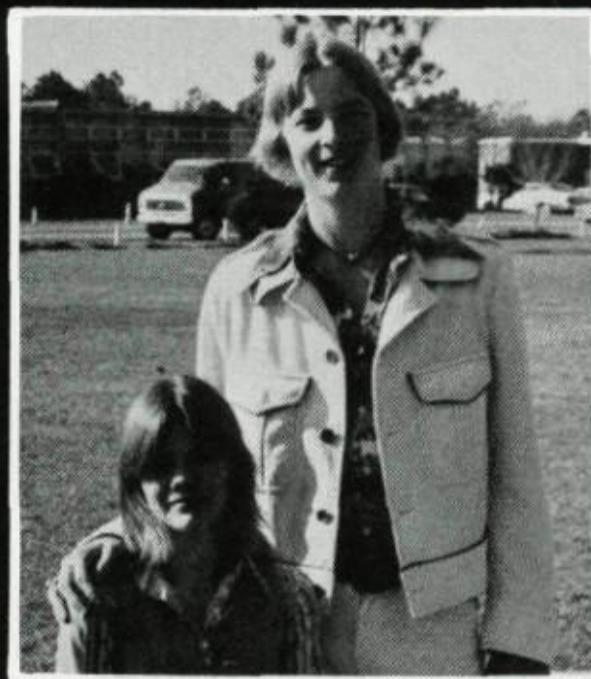

We appreciate Patricia's abilities and with humble gratitude we devote volume two of the Brooks County High ODYSSEY to her.

For all Americans, this was a year of change. We watched the inauguration of a native Georgian, Jimmy Carter, as President of the United States. We felt the door to an era being closed by the deaths of two powerful leaders, Mao-Tse-Tung of China and Richard Daley of Chicago. Other deaths made us aware of the continuous flux in our lives: Agatha Christie, Rosalind Russell, Howard Hughes, Martha Mitchell, J. Paul Getty, and Smokey the Bear.

In the game of sports, we saw a new Super Bowl winner, the Oakland Raiders. Bruce Jenner of the U.S. won the gold medal in the decathlon. And who could forget Romania's Nadia Comaneci's thrilling gymnastic feats? Or Muhammed Ali's threats to retire?

There were sex changes, new trends in fashion, the first Viking landing on Mars, and a new hero—King Kong. Some things did not change, though. We painfully experienced terrorism, natural catastrophes, crime, and scandals. And in our pain we felt with new awareness, the need for prayer and law and morality.

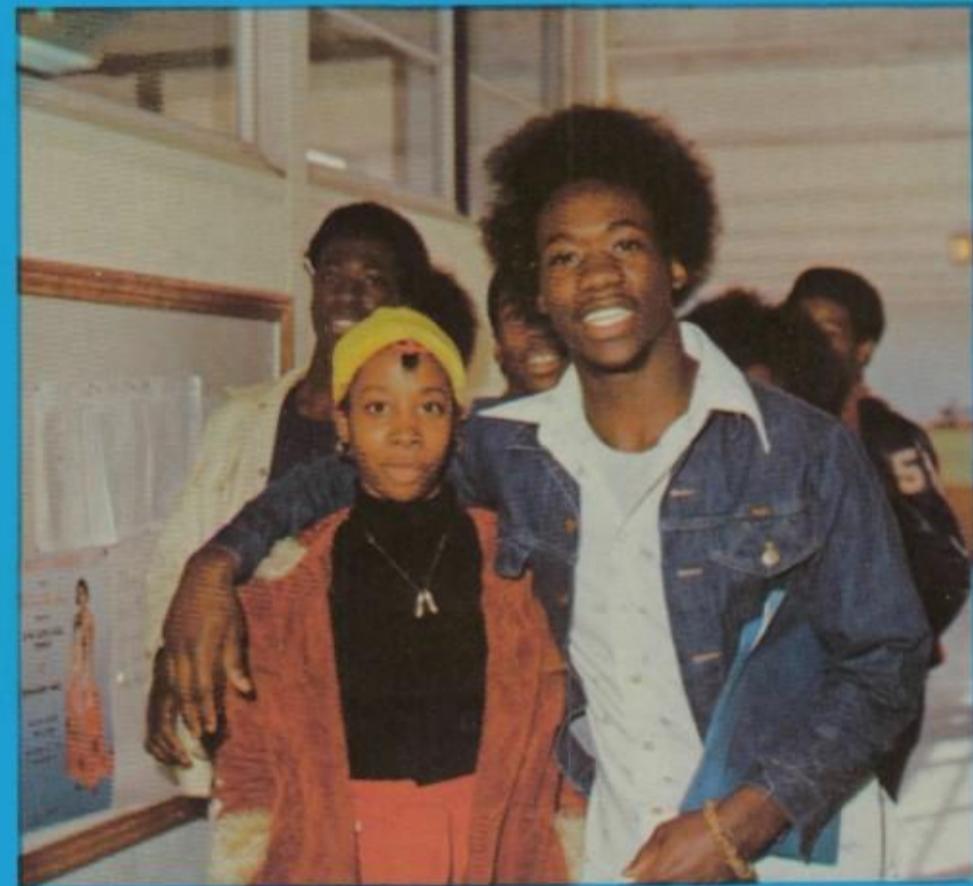

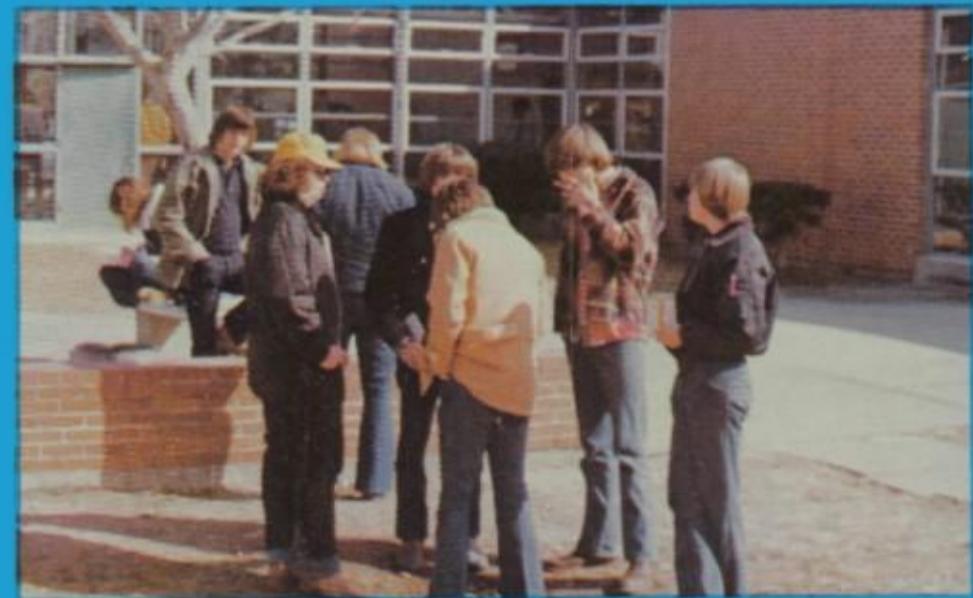

At BCHS there were changes during the 1976-77 school year.

The ODYSSEY Staff remembers it as the year of the SHAKE UP.

Trojans Will

In the text of his Inaugural Address, President Jimmy Carter included the words of a boyhood schoolteacher: "We have to adjust to changing times and still hold out for unchanging principles." Students at BCHS have been witness to many changes in our school, community, and our nation.

As Trojans pass through the doors of BCHS, they look forward to still-uncharted new beginnings. The battle for "unchanging principles" is difficult, but within reach.

To Shape Up

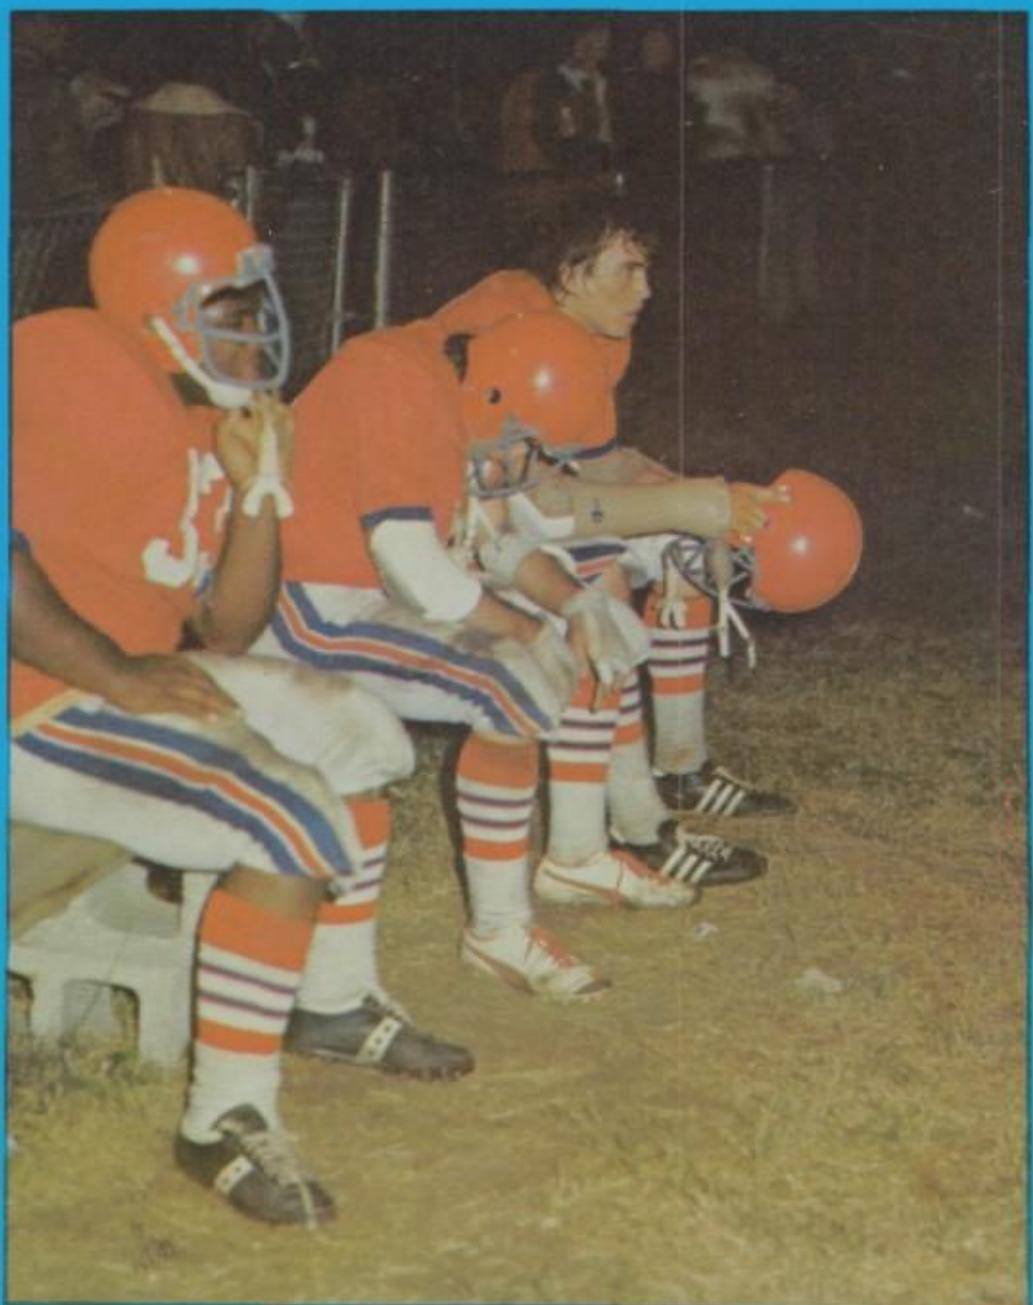

Kathy Kees

The halls of BCHS shook with excitement during Homecoming Week as the Trojans anticipated victory over the Ware County Gators.

On Homecoming night the Trojan fans anxiously awaited the crowning of the new Homecoming queen. Deborah Shelton, the 1975-76 queen graciously relinquished her crown to Miss Kathy Kees. Kathy's court included 1st runner-up Gail Stokes, 2nd runner-up Reena Robinson. Minta Mitchell represented the Junior class and Sophomore representatives were Peggy Wilson and Renita Godwin.

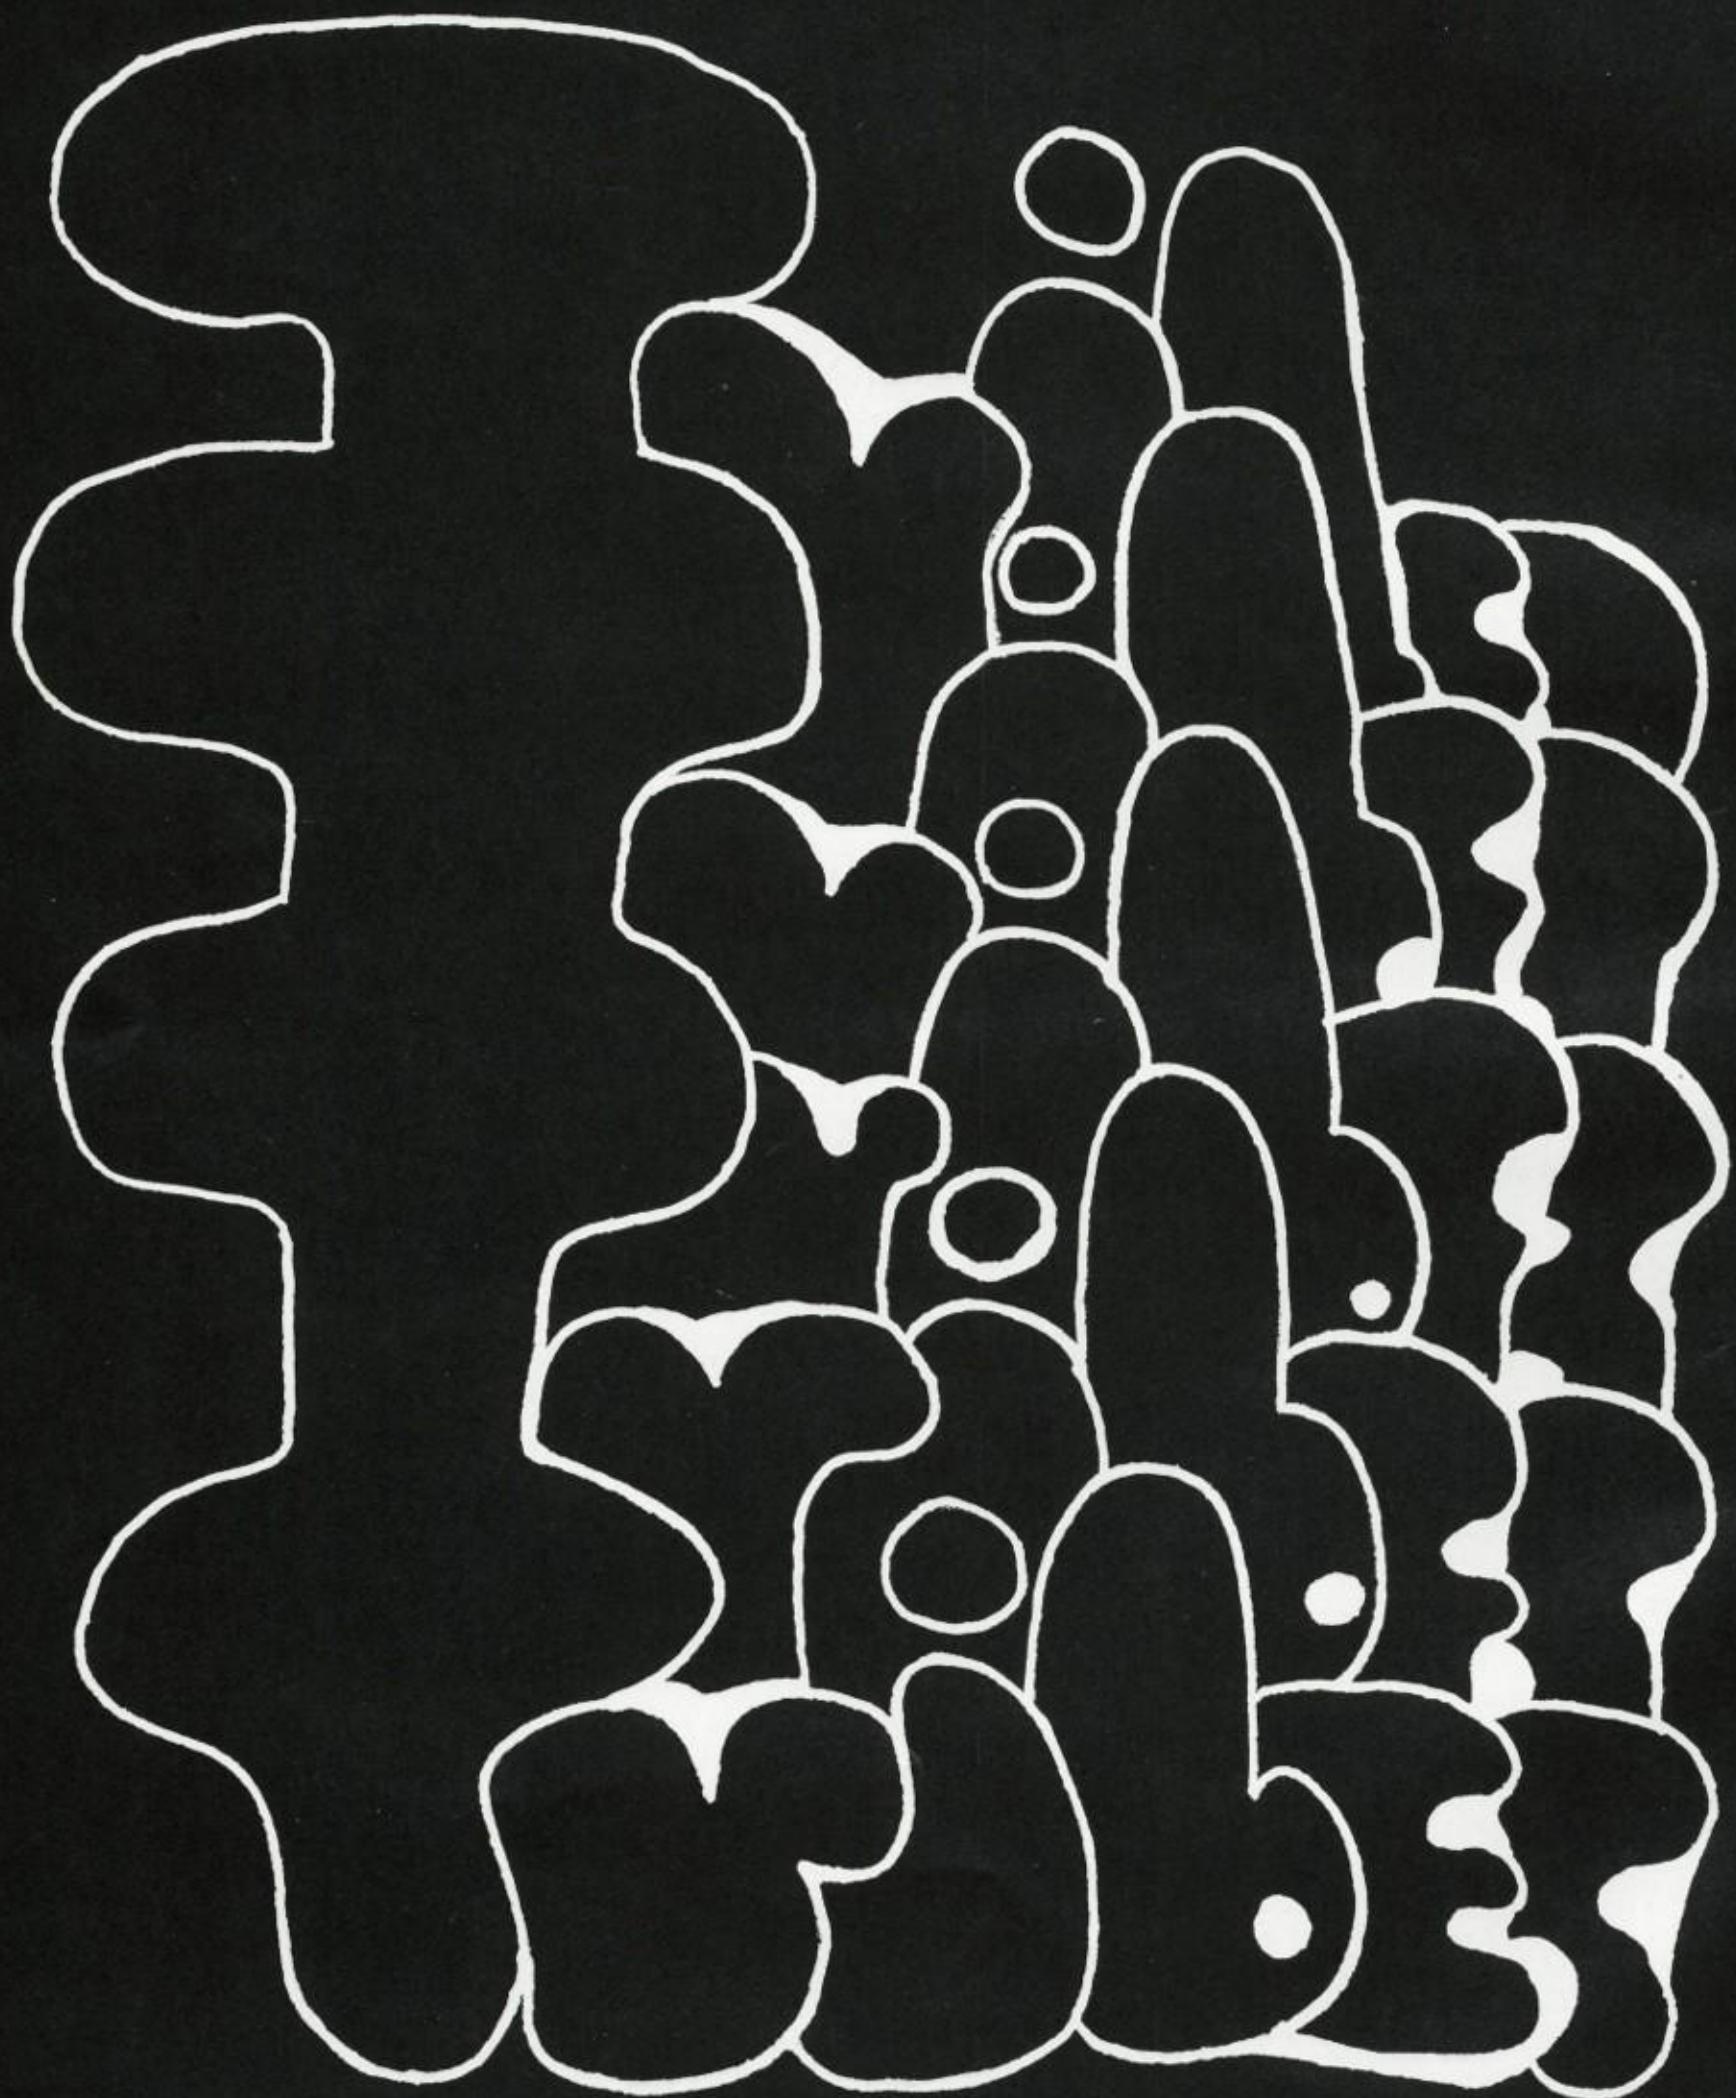

Following the game Trojans danced "Under the Trojan Shield" to the music of the "Ghetto Union."

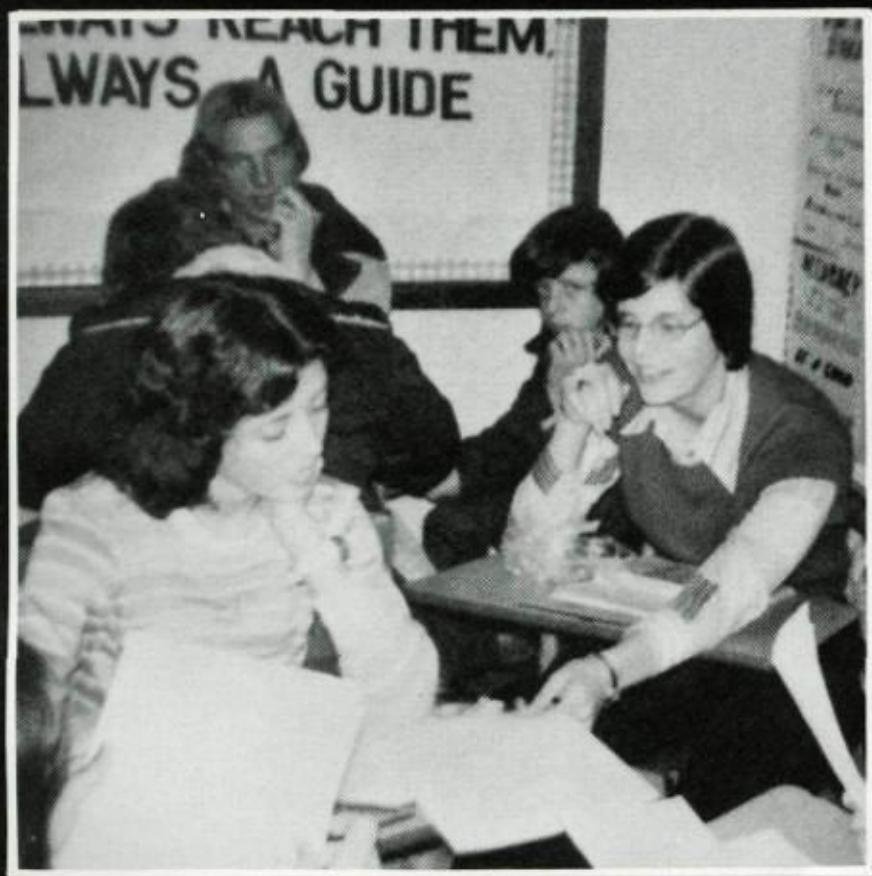

Homecoming Week undoubtedly shook up Trojan Spirit.

McLain Begins Second Year

While Mr. McLain has been principal the faculty and students have become more involved in school activities. He has created an air of participation in our school. Under Mr. McLain's leadership more assemblies have occurred. He appointed a committee which revised the club schedule to create new clubs and permit student membership in at least two organizations.

The stop guards at the parking lot are a new but demanding way Mr. McLain originated to keep students in and trespassers out. Mr. McLain also moved the smoking area to improve supervision, just another example of the disciplined atmosphere Mr. McLain has stressed.

Good Laughs

Spit it out that window!

Got you this time, Jimmy!

The teachers at BCHS really were involved this year in various activities. They exhibited themselves in such ventures as Graffiti Day, Tacky Day, and the Egg Drop, and chaperoned club-sponsored dances. When teachers are interested in school events and partake in them, they arouse student interest. Teachers helped keep our school in high spirits, laughing and shaking all year! The teachers rewarded themselves by joining in these festivities —because they enjoy good laughs now and then, too!

Why, Mr. Sherman, what ever possessed you to say such a thing!

Seniors Shake School With Honors

The class of '77 shook superlative seniors from all limbs of the scholastic tree. Marcella Gosier and Lawrence Marable earned the titles of Mr. and Miss Senior. Senior representatives for Homecoming received the two top titles: Kathy Kees—Miss Homecoming and Gail Stokes—1st Runner-up. Sandra Stevens was Miss FHA. And Daniel Whitfield served as President of the Student Council. Our football and basketball teams starred many Senior Trojans. The area of journalism spotlighted Patricia Cashwell and Becky Stahl as editors of the ODYSSEY and TROJAN HIGHLIGHTS. The Senior class worked hard to make Brooks County High a respected school. We feel that they succeeded.

Sandra and Pam win FBLA honors.

Leading Roles at BCHS

Roger's making a jubilee.

Two down, one to go described the class of '78 with only one year left at BCHS. Homecoming marked the beginning of the year's activities. Billy Thomas and Janet Mitchell were elected Mr. and Miss Junior. Minta Mitchell and Renee Robinson were attendants in the Homecoming Court.

The class stapled their way to victory in the spirit chain contest, and shook the gym rafters with spirited cheers, consistently winning the spirit stick. The junior executive council planned for the highlight of the year, the 1977 prom, with the help of their sponsors. Juniors purchased class rings, sang their way to All-State Chorus and proved their academic abilities by sending representatives to Governor's Honors.

"Sophomores, get up, get up and do your thing!" And the Sophomores really got up. With the beginning of the 1976-77 school year the Sophomores had to adjust to new surroundings at BCHS, but it wasn't long until they took the first big step in being active by joining many of the clubs. Sophomores campaigned hard during the week of class elections. Remember those crazy hats and signs? New officers planned for Homecoming events, asking Sophomores to participate in electing Mr. & Miss Sophomore, decorating floats, and buying links for the spirit chain. Later in the year Sophs were found in such crazy activities as the Beta Club Egg Drop and Graffiti Day. Sophomores may have had a shaky beginning but they soon proved to be an essential part of BCHS.

A black and white graphic design featuring the word "WARP" repeated in a stylized, bubbly font. The font is bold and outlined in white, set against a solid black background. The word "WARP" is repeated multiple times, creating a sense of motion and repetition. The letters are slightly distorted, giving them a three-dimensional, bubbly appearance. The overall effect is dynamic and energetic.

One of the highlights of senior year was voting on the class superlatives. There were twelve different categories of superlatives for the seniors to nominate their classmates in. Ballots were passed out during homeroom and turned in afterwards to Mrs. Milner's room to be tallied by the yearbook staff. None received more than one superlative honor. Considered the top of their class by their peers, the senior superlatives were a group of distinguished students ranging from the wittiest to the most studious.

Honors Day was on May 26 during second period. The Beta Club sponsored this affair and Mr. Hobbs presented the students with the awards with the assistance of Mr. McLain and Mrs. Dupree.

To many, receiving an honor came as a surprise. There were many students recognized this year with an award; the students who received an award were those who had shown outstanding skills in that particular area throughout the school year.

Betty Sheffield Delivers Valedictory at Commencement

Elizabeth Melba Sheffield achieved the highest honor that any student can be awarded at Brooks County High School. She maintained an average of 96.35 from ninth grade to first quarter of her senior year. Betty participated in various activities throughout her high school years. She played and twirled for the Trojan Band. During her junior year she was chosen as a Merit Scholar and Presbyterian Junior College Fellow. As a senior she was a member of All-State Chorus, president of the Beta Club, and secretary of the Student Council.

This year Betty was elected as Star Student and she chose Mrs. Evelyn Bishop as Star Teacher. Betty will attend Georgia Southwestern College in Americus, Georgia, this fall as an elementary education major.

Hannah Brown Welcomes Graduates As Salutatorian.

Hannah Reen Brown earned the title of Salutatorian with a 94.71 point grade average. Hannah was a very active student at Brooks County High School. Hannah was a member and senior co-captain at the Varsity Cheerleading Squad. She served as FHA president during her sophomore year and Student Council vice-president during her senior year. As a junior, Hannah was also a Governor's Honors nominee and was a Merit Scholar.

1976-77 Officers Lead Classes in Harmony

Class officers were elected in the fall of the year. There were five offices to be held: president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and parliamentarian.

The class officers were elected to lead their class in harmony and to plan various activities for the upcoming school year.

The senior class planned such things as class night, color day, and graduation for their class. The junior officers made plans for the Jr.-Sr. The sophomore class planned bakesales to raise money for their class.

1977 Junior Class Officers: Nancy Whitfield, president; Gloria Sirmans, vice-president. Cynthia Gosier, secretary; Mary Bell, treasurer; Sylvia Dukes, parliamentarian.

1977 Senior Class Officers: Raymond Mobley, president; Savolia Henry, treasurer; Donnie Warren, parliamentarian; Jackie Simmons, secretary; Solomon Noble, vice-president.

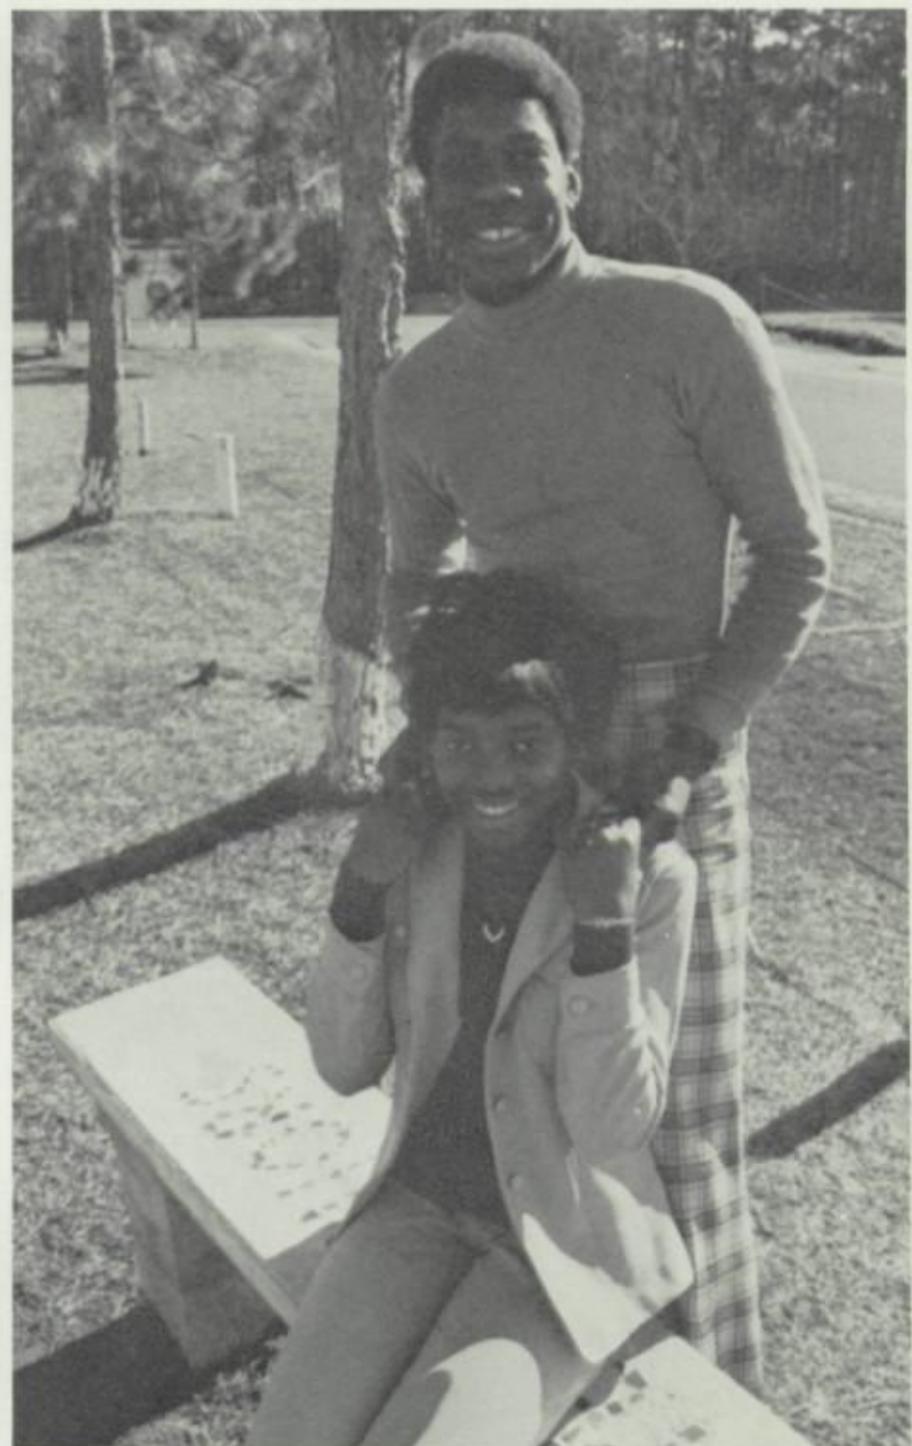

1977 Sophomore Class Officers: Mary Pope, president; Stanley Marable, vice-president; Edwina Godwin, treasurer; Cynthia Gosier, parliamentarian; Carol Taylor, secretary.

The class officers created a new title for two lucky people to receive. A girl and boy were to run together as a couple and compete against others in their class for the title of Mr. and Miss. Many couples entered the race, campaigned, and hoped to receive the title.

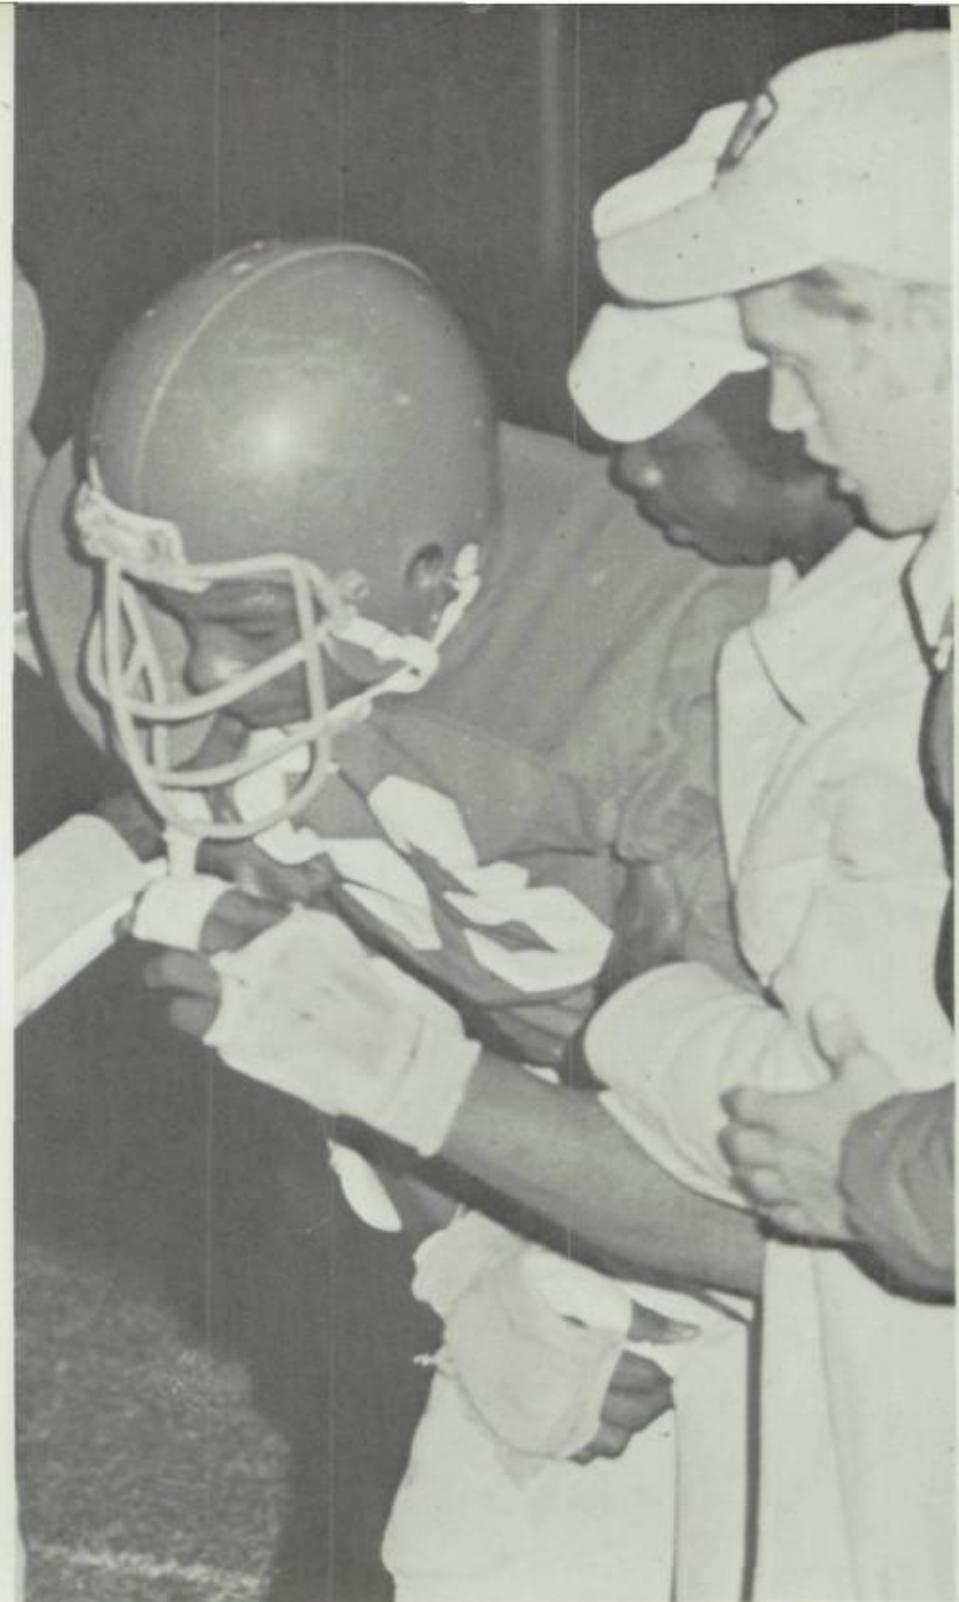

The class officers went to homerooms and passed ballots out and the students voted for the couple of their choice. The votes were counted and the results made three couples very proud.

Trojans Strive For Victory

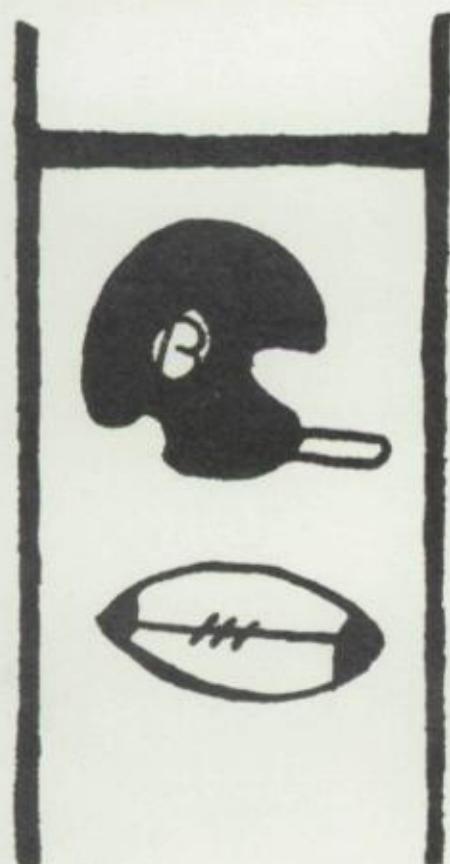

"2, 11, 35—Hike!" yelled the quarterback, sending the Trojans into action with spirit and determination to win. Until the last of the season victory eluded them when they defeated Cook 38 to 12. Despite hard knocks and tackles the Trojans got back on their feet and "went after 'em!"

With a record of 27-3 the Trojanettes could become nothing less than State AA Champions. The B.C.H.S. girls were dedicated players who attributed their success to hard work and God given ability.

Led by team captains Denise Monroe, Gail Stokes, and Pam Brown, the Trojanettes played with determination. Denise was among the high scorers of the team. Just as eager, Gail and Pam were noticed for their outstanding defense.

Whenever the Trojans played they always returned victoriously, whether they won or not because they knew they had done their very best. Trojans were especially proud of their 10 game winning streak, which meant someone must have been handling the ball right.

To get in shape the Trojans ran 5 miles each day of the season. They even played musical chairs to improve their dribbling and passing abilities.

B-Team Basketball really shook up BCHS. The Sophomore teams compiled a fine record for the 1977 basketball season under the coaching of Mrs. Tedder and Mr. Holmes. Both the girls and boys fought a hard battle from the beginning of the season. Although the girls failed to achieve a perfect scoring record for this season, each girl improved in skill. The boys, however, scored a 12-0 streak for a winning season.

Trojans Dash to Victory

The Trojans dashed down the 1977 track season with spirit, good showmanship and charisma. Coaches Jerry Hays and Johnny SeaBrooks supervised the team's training for skill and endurance by running the young men 6 miles each day. Individual members of the team showed their ability in the 100 yard dash, 440 relay, 440 dash, 120 high hurdles, and 330 intermediate hurdles.

First row: Coach Jerry Hays, M. Lamons, S. Jackson, M. Mitchell, B. Reynolds, D. Thomas, V. Nichols, C. Seay, Coach Johnny SeaBrooks. Second row: O. Wyche, J. McLaughlin, R. Mobley, R. Thomas, W. On your mark, get set, GO! The Trojanettes leaped into the 1977 track season with a vision of recapturing their past state championship. Coach Lucy Tedder led the team into physical fitness by running them 2 miles a day. Individual endeavor along with team effort was an important factor in the performance of the team. Determined to reach their goals the Trojanettes spent their spring holidays practicing, running, and learning rules and techniques for meets.

Under the Trojan Shield

Heading off the big day of Homecoming was the burial of the Gator, sponsored by the Student Council. Students spent the afternoon decorating floats and lining them up for the Homecoming Parade. Crowds gathered along the streets to view the floats and cars, and also to listen to the lively music of the B.C.H.S. Marching Band. The close of parade was the judging of the floats. The winners were as follows: 1st place—The Brooks Co. Jr. High FHA Float; 2nd place—Quitman Primary I Float; 3rd place; The Brooks Co. High Student Council Float.

Spring Rhapsodizes At B.C.H.S.

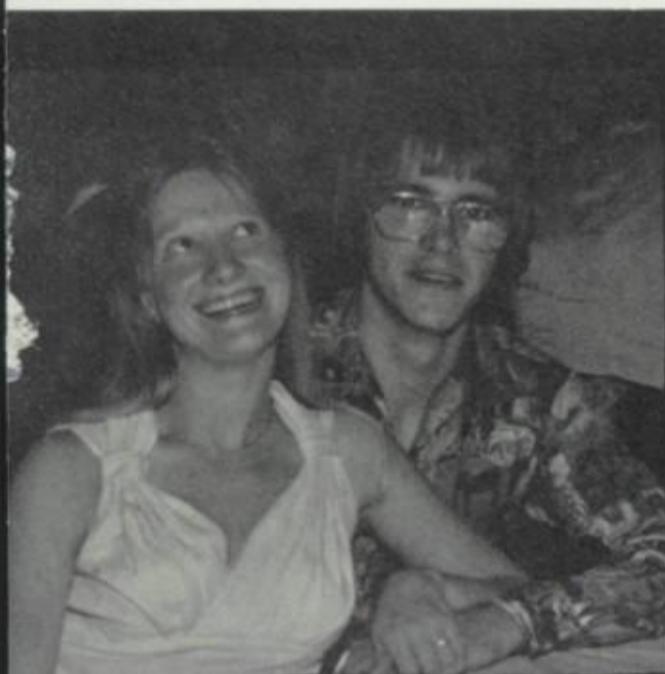

Spring at B.C.H.S. was celebrated with many exciting events. Couples danced in a lovely fantasy garden at the prom. The B.C.H.S. Chorus frolicked at their spring concert. The heyday of spring events was the presentation by the Thespians of THE DOCTOR IN SPITE OF HIMSELF and THE SANDBOX. Spring was certainly a delight for all.

Juniors, Seniors Have

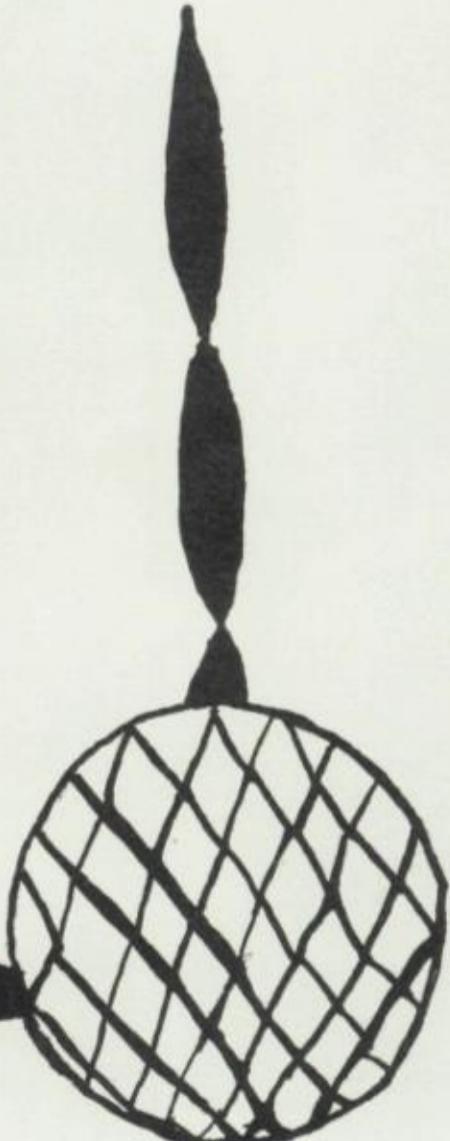

Moments to Remember

The 1977 Junior-Senior Prom truly was filled with moments to remember. The junior class was more than proud to present the graduating class of '77 with this most precious and lasting memory of their Sr. year at Brooks County High School.

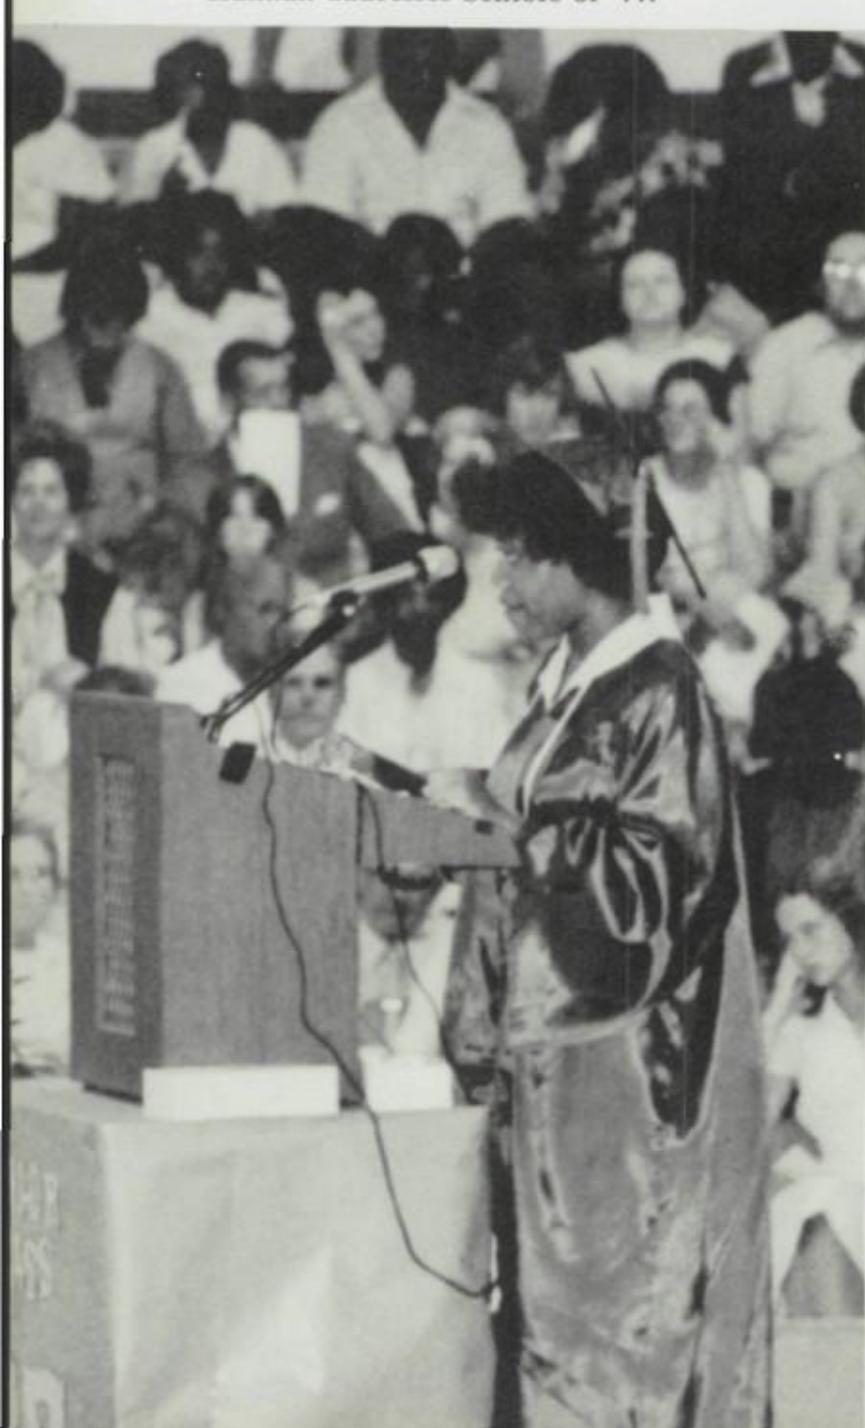

Although it was a night of nights, it was a month of planning to make sure everything was perfect. Then came decorating time which had more surprises than a Jack-In-The-Box. No junior was left out because there was plenty to do from hanging streamers to building hedges. The National Guard Armory was filled with a spirit of Springtime, as the juniors, seniors and their guests danced to the beat of "Freddie Wilson and The UpSetters" from Cairo.

Toward Their Future Goals

Mr. Wells congratulates Seniors.

From first grade when ankle socks and loafers were in style to 12th grade with platform shoes and gauchos, the Seniors strode through years of changes and new experiences. At times the steps were difficult—scrimping and saving for the endless Senior expenses, worrying about having enough hours to graduate; finding out that there was to be no Baccalaureate Sermon for the first time at BCHS.

The final day that put an end to all this worrying was Graduation. Through the Graduation Ceremony many memories and thanks were expressed. Thanks to teachers, friends and most of all the parents. Without the help of the parents the Seniors would have not accomplished the goal of Graduating. Memories also lingered in the minds of the Seniors about Junior High, cold winters, hot summers, homecoming parades, final exams, and many other happenings that occurred throughout the five years they were together.

As the Seniors walked to the platform to receive their diplomas, they realized they were reaching for more than just a piece of paper. They held in their hands a symbol of twelve years of hard, successful work. Graduation became for them, the "small step" leading towards the "big step" of their life's goals.

ODYSSEY Staff Builds Toward

More pages, More pictures, and color! The 1977 ODYSSEY Staff proudly presented the school with its second and better-than-ever yearbook. Members rushed to meet deadlines, collected ads, drew up layouts, and wrote and rewrote copy. They sponsored a journalism dance and queen, and raised class ads.

Students were frantically encouraged to buy annuals. Subscriptions almost doubled last years sales as students recognized the quality of the publication and eagerly waited to see their class pictures and candid scenes. A special feature was the staff-designed division pages. No more cropping till next year!

Student Council Shakes up BCHS

The 1977 Student Council really shook up the school with its spirit. Elected members representing sophomores, juniors and seniors met daily in homeroom and monthly at night to discuss school problems and plan activities. The Council began the year with an Orientation assembly, a faculty tea, and coordination of all Homecoming events. Two of its most important contributions were the idea of student disc jockeys at dances and the suggestion that the administration purchase stereo equipment for these dances. For a district project, the Council supported the Kidney Foundation through a store block, club dance-a-thon, the sale of bumper stickers, and the distribution of donor cards. They competed in the district talent show and for the "The Gift of Life" trophy. Representatives somehow found the time to perform at the local GAE meeting, plan a Christmas assembly, sell popcorn at basketball games, lead the pledge to the flag, make "break" announcements, attend district workshops in Tifton, present the cheerleaders with corsages, and award the spirit stick at pep rallies. Their year was full of activities.

Thespians took many curtain calls as they responded to student and community applause for their entertaining programs. Audiences enjoyed such plays as ONCE UPON A PLAYGROUND, NOT ENOUGH ROPE, and THE SEEKERS. Active Thespians raised money for props and costumes and for charitable contributions through bake sales and a Valentine's Dance.

The Key Club is the school branch of the Kiwanis Club, whose goal is to become future leaders and to perform civic services to the community. This year the Key Club was under the leadership of Coach Jerry Hays.

The Key Club had a new addition to their club called the "Key Club Little Sisters". The 1977 Little Sisters were: Becky Stahl, Patricia Cashwell, Susan Wilson, and Betty Sheffield.

FHA Stirs Up Winning Batter

FHA created a prize-winning recipe guaranteed to please the palate of an individual, a family, and a community. Student chefs mixed hanging baskets, colorful planters, and club symbols in the lunchroom. They added an instructive child care program, a Homecoming float, a banquet and coronation of Miss Sweetheart. They seasoned with bake sales and Christmas and Valentine delicacies for teachers to produce a batch of zestful days at BCHS in '77.

FFA Team Wins Meat Contest

Hold on tight, Trey.

Brooks County Future Farmers of America had a Grand Champion year. They fattened their program with a Parent-Member Banquet, a teacher's tea, an assembly program, school displays, the Hog and Cattle Show, and many regional and state agricultural events.

The BCH FFA has yielded a bumper crop in quality students since 1959. Gerald Spencer was State President for 1965-66. And this year Timothy Spencer, Wayne Hall, and George Newsome will represent Georgia in the National Meat Judging Contest in Kansas City, Missouri.

Pass the wrench, please.

In the second year of its existence the HIGHLIGHTS continued its effective coverage of activities around the school. The newspaper staff met during the 5th period Journalism class and received English credit for their tireless work. By the end of the year the reporters were writing professional news articles, editorials, interviews, society features, and sports items. And the paper had changed from a school mimeographed one to a professionally printed publication complete with pictures.

-N-

1977 was known as the year of the Shake Up. We quivered with excitement and pride at another State Basketball Championship and the election of several clubs to state offices. We shivered through a terribly cold winter that threatened our routine and our health. We experienced tremors of regret at the resignations of dear faculty members. And we were shaken at times by the irresponsible behavior of some of our own friends and acquaintances.

Throughout the year we coped with changes—changes in our school, in our nation, and in our world. But most of all we had to cope with changes in ourselves.

In FUTURE SHOCK Alvin Toffler states, "Change is life itself." Because of our experiences at BCHS, we feel better prepared to deal with changes in our future lives.

The ODYSSEY Staff would like to thank the students and faculty for giving us an opportunity to create this yearbook for you. During the 9 months it took to produce the 1977 ODYSSEY we have worked toward our goal of pleasing you. We are proud of the 32 additional pages and the 6-page color section. Our reward will come in knowing that you share our pride in these features and that you feel we have truly represented the spirit of this year.

As we send our final layouts to the printer, we want to thank these special people; Sabra Stipe, for rescuing us with her able photography of spring events; Dave Bosse, for Prom pictures; and Mrs. Carol Jones, for keeping our questionable account accurate; and a special thanks to Mrs. Faye Milner and Mrs. Jeanne Tillman for kindly instructing and assisting in the making of this book.

Sincerely,

Patricia Cashwell
